

1: Holmberg, Allan R. Nomads of the Long Bow: The Siriono of Eastern Bolivia. Smithsonian Institution: Institute of Social Anthropology Publication No. 10. Washington: U. S. Government Printing Office, 1950.

7 plates; pp. 104; 4 charts; map; bibliography; index.

Yale: C51.0700.10.

[MPK: This source contains almost all that is known about the Siriono. It is an excellent study, carefully done and well presented. The section on sex, pages 63-65, has been omitted because it contains no information that is not more fully presented in 2: Holmberg. There are no other omissions from this source. Field work: 1941-42.]

1946-47

2: Holmberg, Allan R. The Siriono: A Study of the Effect of Hunger Frustration on the Culture of a Semi-nomadic Bolivian Indian Society. Unpublished manuscript presented to the Faculty of the Graduate School of Yale University in Candidacy for the Degree of Doctor of Philosophy. New Haven: Yale University, [1946].

Pp. 294 (of typescript).

Yale: Ph. D. 1946.

[MPK: This source is almost exactly the same as 1: Holmberg, published later. Only those few sentences, mostly having to do with sex, that were omitted from 1: Holmberg have been taken for the file.]

- 3: Métraux, Alfred. Siriono: Tribal Divisions and History. Smithsonian Institution, Bureau of American Ethnology, Bulletin 134: The Native Tribes of Eastern Bolivia and Western Matto Grosso, pp. 110-114, 171-182. Washington, 1942.

Yale: A52. 72. 134.

[MPK: This source is very sketchy on the Siriono, containing only secondary material, much of which is of doubtful validity. Because it is brief and of interesting variety, none of the material has been omitted.]

4: Rydén, Stig. A Study of the Siriono Indians. Göteborg, 1941.

Preface; 71 illustrations; bibliography; appendix by Carl-Herman Hjortsjö.

Yale: C716, 931.

[MPK: In reviewing the literature on the Siriono, Holmberg states that the only information of value in Ryden's work is that on material culture. Only that part has been taken for this file. A number of good illustrations have been omitted due to technical difficulties in reproduction.]

5: Radwan, Eduard. Einiges über die Sirionos. Zeitschrift für Ethnologie, Vol. LX, pp. 291-296. Berlin: Berliner Gesellschaft für Anthropologie, Ethnologie und Urgeschichte, 1928.

8 photographs.

Yale: Nkl0. Z37. v. 59-60.

[KSC: For many years, this was one of the most detailed accounts of the Siriono. Although it contains a brief description of their dress, utensils, and dwellings, its chief interest lies in its light on their contacts with missionaries. Although in the main, Holmberg, in his later and much more detailed study, corroborated Radwan's information, Radwan gives a few "facts" on funeral customs not mentioned by Holmberg.
